Our Promise of Performance

In 1974, Total Cost Involved began to set the standard for quality when we built the first model 'A' reproduction frame — it took the Classic Car restoration market by storm. Today, we own and occupy a 32,000 square foot manufacturing facility, where we deliver a broad mix of products serving street rod and muscle car enthusiasts nationwide, from builders of classic cars to trucks. We've earned numerous design awards, including the coveted 'Manufacturer of the Year' Award from SEMA-SRMA. Through a well-trained team of experienced engineers and machinists, we're still setting the highest standard for reliability and performance as we've done now for 36 years and we promise to achieve this standard in all the products we deliver to you."
